

Participant Information Statement: Students

Improving student outcomes: Coaching teachers in the power of feedback

You are invited to be in a research study on feedback.

- Feedback is information that tells students:
  1. Where they are going
  2. How they are going
  3. Ways to improve during learning
- Teachers from your school will be coached by researchers in different ways to use feedback.
- We want to know if good feedback helps you to learn.
- To find out, we want to be able to look at your learning results before, during and after the teachers are coached.
- We also want you to answer some questionnaires and we may want to ask you some questions in a group with other students.
- To do this we need your permission.
- Your results will remain private and we will not use your name.
- It is your choice to be in the study and it is ok to change your mind later and pull out of the study.
- If you have any questions you could ask your class teacher, parents, or your school principal.

This study adheres to the Guidelines of the ethical review process of The University of Queensland and the National Statement on Ethical Conduct in Human Research.

Annemaree Carroll
University of Queensland

John Hattie
University of Melbourne

Martin Westwell
Flinders University

Cameron Brooks
University of Queensland

Rochelle Burton
University of Queensland

---

Assent Form for Students

Improving student outcomes: Coaching teachers in the power of feedback

- I understand that some of my school results will be used in the study but my name will not be used.

- I understand that I will be asked to answer a questionnaire on feedback but my name will not be used.

- I understand that I may be asked to answer some questions about feedback with other students but my name will not be used.

- I understand that I can pull out of the project at any time.

- I have read the Information Sheet and would like to participate in a study about how feedback helps learning.

Name .....

Signed.....

Date.....

School.....

Thank you, the research team.

---